- The line marked by a star (*) is not accredited by Accredia, member of MLA. - If not otherwise specified, the uncertainty is extended and has been calculated with a recovery factor  $k=2$  corresponding to a probability interval of about 95%. - RL is the detection limit and identifies a confidence interval of zero with a probability interval of about 99%. "<x" or ">x" indicate inferior or superior to the measurement field of the test. - If not differently specified, the sums are calculated by lower bound criteria (L.B.). - In case of alteration of the sample the laboratory declines any responsibility on the results that can be influenced by the deviation in case the customer asks for the execution of the test anyway. - In case of alteration of the sample the laboratory declines any responsibility on the results that can be influenced by the deviation in case the customer asks for the execution of the test anyway. - If the sampling is not carried out by the laboratory staff, the results obtained are considered referring to the sample as received and the laboratory declines its responsibility for the results calculated considering the sampling data provided by the Customer. The name and contact information of the Customer are always provided by the Customer. - R is the recovery, recoveries marked by an hashtag (#) have not been used in the calculations. - If there is a specification (customer specifications, law limits) which has been compared to the analytical results, the values shown in bold indicate a result which is out of the specification. - If not differently specified the judgments of compliance /non-compliance eventually reported are referred to analysed parameters and are based on the comparison of the value with the reference values without considering the confidence interval of measure.
